

DR. HYATT BACK TO RUN WEATHER

Promises to Give Salt Lake the Best There Is Available for This Section.

Dr. R. J. Hyatt, the section director of the weather bureau and agricultural observation business in this part of the land, returned yesterday from an extended visit to Los Angeles. The good doctor went away six weeks or so ago for the benefit of his health. He got the benefit. He looks well, eats well and says he sleeps well. He has recovered his physical equipoise, and still wears his mental one.

"How was the weather in Los Angeles, doctor?" "Pretty bad," he says, perhaps being obvious. Seriously, however, Dr. Hyatt is back again and will take personal charge of the weather that is to be served up to Salt Lake folks hereafter. Mr. Church, the chief observer, who has been handling the weather for this district during Dr. Hyatt's absence, has done well—as well as any man under the circumstances—though long experience, to rely on the genuine character of Dr. Hyatt's weather. As much as the weather will likely begin along about the middle of the month, Dr. Hyatt has returned in time to take care of the situation. While Salt Lake really has no "rainy season," it sometimes gets pretty wet here in the springtime, and it is essential that there be a veteran at the helm when the clouds open up.

ANDY CARLSON A VISITOR

President of Boise Commercial Club Says Capital of Idaho Is Growing.

Andy E. Carlson, president of the Boise commercial club, was in Salt Lake a short time yesterday, having stopped over here on his way home from a trip to Denver. He left last evening. At home

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS

Fred P. Witherell, baggage man for the Union Pacific at Julesburg, Colo., passed through Salt Lake yesterday on his way to Los Angeles. He was telling a group of railroad men yesterday about the passing through Cheyenne last Tuesday of the Harriman train. He said that the train carrying Mr. Harriman's railroad friends broke all previous records of the road between Cheyenne and Julesburg, making much of the distance at the rate of a mile a minute. Mr. Harriman was not on the train. At Cheyenne Mr. Harriman left most of the party and traveled in his special car to Denver, going east from Denver the following day. The fast trip was made by the others from Cheyenne to connect with Harriman at Julesburg. To do this a distance of 145 miles had to be covered in 145 minutes. It is said that Sidney, Neb., 102 miles from Cheyenne, was reached in just 100 minutes, and the remaining 43 miles was made in 44 minutes, leaving a minute to spare in Julesburg.

The morning conference rates over all local railroads went into effect yesterday, and the travel yesterday was indicative of large crowds today.

W. H. Lee, traveling freight agent for the Salt Lake Route, went to Fairfield yesterday to superintend the loading of the first car of Utah wool to be shipped out of the state this season.

Mr. Carlson spends much of his time locating sites for a city park, drinking ice cream sodas and keeping track of his partner, James Lusk, who is interested with him in the hardware business. Between times, as a councilman, he does his share of bossing the city's servants and, as president of the Commercial club, in entertaining strangers and telling them what a fine, home town is Boise.

There never was a time when Mr. Carlson, either at home or abroad, would not swear emphatically that Boise was making longer and wider and higher steps forward than ever before, and that's what he told the reporter for The Herald yesterday.

He says there are in actual course of construction in his city right now buildings valued at $1,250,000, included in which are a new hotel to cost $200,000, which will have 250 rooms and all the latest frills and conveniences; also a $500,000 distributing and retail house for Studebaker Bros. & Co. He said:

"Ada county is preparing plans for a new county building to be erected in Boise at a cost of $500,000 and the government has recently appropriated $125,000 to purchase additional ground for a new federal building."

A. W. Randall, traveling freight agent for the Rock Island and Frisco systems, journeyed north yesterday after business.

Harry Cushing, traveling passenger agent for the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, will go to Manti today to accompany the conference train to Salt Lake City.

John French, traveling freight agent for the Washout of the Salt Lake office, returned yesterday from a trip to Utah points.

J. L. Lundt, commercial agent for the Washout, took a trip yesterday to sheep corrals along the Salt Lake Route.

It was reported at the Short Line offices yesterday that J. H. Reeves, general freight agent, is expected to arrive home from Chicago today.

The Pennsylvania railroad system, comprising nearly thirty railroads east of the Missouri river, has just established a railroad syndicate news bureau, and will hereafter regularly distribute to all newspapers in cities where the system maintains offices, news items of interest concerning any of its roads.

Leon Engstrom, commercial agent here for the Union Line, Pennsylvania system, has just returned from a business trip to Butte.

BOISE IS WORKING UP REAL BUILDING BOOM

Reilly Atkinson Calls Attention to Half Million of Improvements Under Way.

"I figured it up the other day and made a list of over $500,000 worth of building improvements now under way or soon to be under way just in the business section of Boise," said Reilly A. Atkinson yesterday, "and there are all kinds of new homes and other buildings being built and planned. This is going to be a great year for Boise."

Reilly Atkinson is the Fisher Harris of Boise, Ida. He is the secretary of the Boise Commercial club, and is a real secretary. He has been a hard worker for the club and for Boise. The business and professional men of Boise have a long list of good things secured for their city that they are giving Reilly Atkinson credit for. Atkinson is a young man, and when he first landed in Boise a few years ago he built up for himself a profitable business and became quickly recognized as a live wire. He was promptly pointed upon as just the right kind of a man to be secretary for the Commercial club when it was reorganized, and he has made good. He isn't much of a talker, but he has a great deal of information which he freely distributes.

"What do you think of the results of the Idaho legislature, Mr. Atkinson?" he was asked.

"Why, I think it did pretty well—for a legislature," he replied. The reporter pinched himself and studied out another.

"How do the people like the new governor?"

"Why, I've heard some very kind words said about Mr. Brady," said Mr. Atkinson.

"What is the status of the coming city election?" Will Joseph, 23, Idaho, be re-elected or will Joseph T. Pence, the Democratic candidate, win out?"

"Some say that Pence will be elected, and some say that Joseph is sure to be re-elected. It seems to be a question right now of which one gets the most votes."

"And which one do you think that will be?" persisted the inquirer.

"Why, probably whichever one is elected," he replied. The reporter thanked Mr. Atkinson for his information, and as gracefully as possible retired.

Mr. Atkinson is here as a representative of the Boise Commercial club to appear today before a special commissioner of the interstate commerce commission in regard to express rates.

In 1908 Mr. Atkinson succeeded in getting the express rates between Salt Lake and southern Idaho common points reduced one-fourth, and he is now greatly interested in the matter he now has in hand.

FRANK MCLELLAN LOOKS LIKE SURE THING MAN

Detectives Wheeling and Wilson arrested Frank McClellan early yesterday afternoon, and he will be charged with vagrancy.

McClellan is a good dresser, on the outside. He is a wise one to all appearances and is suspected of pulling off a few New Game stunts every now and then. The detectives are of the opinion that he has a partner who assists him at every turn in the game.

At the police station McClellan was put through a severe sweating and he demonstrated the fact that the fact that he talked much on any subject. At one stage of the questioning, however, he acted as though he thought things were getting a trifle too hot for him and he emitted a series of howls that almost started a panic in the drunk house.

When taken in charge by the detectives McClellan was hanging around the temple grounds, evidently looking for some unsuspecting visitor from the country.

Mr. F. G. Fritts, Oneonta, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." "Foley's Orino Laxative is best for women and children, as it is mild, pleasant and effective, and is a splendid spring medicine, as it cleanses the system and clears the complexion." F. J.
